Bower of Roses

Bower of Roses.

Bower of Roses.

The famous building has for this occasion been transformed into a bower of roses. Over 100,000 of these blossoms, in all shades of color, are used in the scheme of decoration. Only the royal box is draped, the others relying purely on floral adornment. Around the royal seats are draperies of crimson plush, bordered with gold, with a frieze of pale mauve, white gold orchids and foliage, while the interior of the box is decorated with pink carnations. Over the center of the front is the imperial crown and underneath it the Star of the Garter all worked in flowers. The medallion for India, with the Star of India hanging from it, is fixed over the box on the tier above.

A trophy consisting of the rose, thistle, shamrock and harp tied together with a true lover's knot, is fixed on the proscenium curtain, and on the sides are placed two medallions with the royal initials "G" and "M." Immediately above is hung the Union Jack, surmounted by the imperial crown.

Arrangement of Flowers.

Arrangement of Flowers.

Fach tier of the house is outlined in deep pink roses. The ground floor is aranged with a green silk trellis with large pale pink roses clustering over it. The next tier is arranged quite differently, medallions of deep pink roses being connected by festoons of pale roses. On the grand tier are placed large medallions of deep pink roses with the names of the various sections of the empire worked in gold flowers. New Zealand, Australia. Rambler roses are so arranged as to appear to be growing from the ground and clambering up the columns from ther to lier and changing in color from pale pink to the deepest crimson as they

Great Demand for Seats.

At least a third of the house will be occupied by his majosty's guests and their suites and the demand for the remaining seats has been extraordinary. Applications have numbered over ten times the total of seats available and offers of $3000 to $5000 for a single box have been refused. Subscribers were given the preference in the allotment of boxes, for which the price was fixed at $325. A waiting list was opened on which several hundreds of disappointed applicants piaced their names in the hope that some of the people who have reserved boxes may for some reason renounce their claims at the last moment.

Levee or evening dress is to be enforced in every part of the house.

up to receive their majesties on their ar-rival at the theater, and just inside the building a lavishly decorated reception room has been erected in which the state officials will await the entrance of their malesties and the royal guests.

Ten Boxes in One.

Ten of the boxes in the center of the theater have been thrown into one in order to make the royal box sufficiently large to hold the 100 guests of royal rank. In the course of the evening it is expected that his majesty, the king, will hold a reception of his guests in the foyer immediately at the rear of the royal box, where a large number of artistic objects from the royal palaces have been used as decorations.

day to receive the dues, so, ladies, don't forget.

Tent No. 2 held its regular review on last Thursday evening. There being little husiness of importance to transact, only a short seasion was held in order to give the uniform rank a chance to drill, which was done under the direction of Commander Hubbard and incidentally Sir Knight Cook played a couple of fine new marches. On next Thursday evening, June 29, the degree team, with the assistance of the uniform rank, will exemplify the second and third degrees on a large class of candidates.

It is expected that Sir Knight Standish will come down from Bingham and "Serene" Banks from Eureka and assume their respective roles.

The entertainment committee has a surprise up its sleeve that will interest and give pleasure to every sir knight, and no Maccabee can afford to stay away.

British Fraternal Society.

On Thursday evening last, June 22, the coronation concert under the auspices of the above society was held in the clubrooms, 236 old Commercial Club building, South West Temple street. There was a large attendance of members and friends, the hall being entirely filled with Britishers who came to do lanor to the occasion. A splendid programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered, the following ladles and gentlemen taking part: Measrs, Haynes, Whiting, Harrison, T. Sprunt and C. H. Hilton, Misses Smith, A. Belton, Dorothy Geary and the Bolton trio. The irrepressible Chris Manners was there in great form, first giving a parody on that fine Socitish song, "Mary of Argyle" he called it. Afterward he indulged in a few remarks on nothing in general and tombstones in particular. Rather a grave subject, but it was distinctly funny all the same. Now, while all were good, we wish to mention particularly the Bolton trio, two winsome English lasses and their brother. Their manipulation of the banja was great and we have no hesitation in saying that seldom or ever have such expert players been heard in Sail. Lake City. During the evening C. H. Hillion gave a short address and made fitting reference to the great event taking place that day. He was followed later by R. G. Geary, who strongly urged the claims of the society upon those present who were not members. Taking it all in all this has certainly been the best entertainment vet given by this bustling body of Britons. Members are reminded the next meeting will be held on Thursday, July 6. Royal Highlanders.

Utan castle 238, Royal Highlanders, opened in regular form. I. P. Mary Hubbard in the chair. All officers with one exception present. The application of Miss Adelaide Gardner was favorably acted upon. The team went through its paces in good shape and will no doubt make a good showing at Ogden. Under the head of tower building Miss Gardner was given the obligation, to be initiated later. Under the head of good of the fraternity. Fair Lady Lena Dell sangvery beautifully. Mrs. Harden played a very beautifully. Mrs. Harden played a very beautiful plano selection. The installing of officers was deterred until July 10. Fair Lady Lena Dell and Clansman Larson were pleasantly surprised with a bundle shower, it being the last meeting before Fair Lady Dell changes her name to Larson. After the bundle shower cake and lee cream were served and an enjoyable time spent. Team prepare to drill. Regular meeting tonight. 8:15 sharp. All visiting Highlanders welcome. Salt Lake council No. 1517, Royal Arcanum, celebrated its thirty-fourth anniversary at Wandamere last Friday evening. June 23. A baseball game was played between the married and single men members, which ended in victory for the benedicts with a score of 13 to 4. After the ball game was over the two hall teams and part of the council participated in a plunge in the swimming pool. At 8 o'clock luncheon was served in the cafe for members and their families and friends, which was enjoyed by about 300 people. Dancing and boating completed the pleasures of the day, which was an enjoyable one for all concerned. The Royal Arcanum band was one of the novelties of the gathering, and scored a greent bit.

The business meeting was short, and the team took the floor to practice for the installation, which will be held early in July.

for the installation, which will be near early in July.

Utah lodge No. 385 devoted most of the evening of its meeting night to practising for the installation of officers, which is to be held on July 6, when it is hoped that a good attendance of members will he present. President Deason also wishes call the attention of the newly-elected officers to the fact that it is necessary for them to be present on that night, and wishes to remind them of the fact that in the Fraternal Brotherhood the officers are allowed till the third meeting night to know their parts. The outing given by the drill team on Thursday night was a grand success. There was abundance of good things to cat, and if the cooking was done by the drill team, as one of the boys remarked, there were some mighty good future wives there. During the evening the team gave its veil several times, and even without that, was the enter of attraction. The team will be in vidence, during the installation on July 8.

July 6.

Murray lodge held a very short business session, closing early that the members might take advantage of the invitation of the president.
